The State of Maryland Public School Law (COMAR 13A08.01.11) provides for the suspension and expulsion of students. During the period of suspension/expulsion students will be provided with comparable educational services and appropriate behavioral support services to promote successful return to the student’s regular academic program. The Garrett County Public Schools, however, recognizes the need to consider re-admitting students to the Garrett County Public Schools after expulsion. Requests for re-admission of expelled students may be made by the student, parent/guardian, or an appropriate administrator to the Superintendent of Schools in accordance with the appropriate administrative procedure.
