The State of Maryland Public School Law (COMAR 13A08.01.11) provides for the suspension and expulsion of students. During the period of suspension/expulsion students will be provided with comparable educational services and appropriate behavioral support services to promote successful return to the student’s regular academic program. The Garrett County Public Schools [, however,] recognizes the need to consider re-admitting students to the Garrett County Public Schools after expulsion. Requests for re-admission of expelled students may be made by the student, parent/guardian, or an appropriate administrator to the Superintendent of Schools in accordance with the appropriate administrative procedure.
