Dear Parents/Guardians,

What a great week in Kindergarten! Our informational text writing is really coming along. It’s been a long process but so rewarding. We have some really good writers. We continue to work on sight words, letters and sounds, blending and substituting phonemes, counting syllables in words, and reading grade-level text. We were introduced to pronouns this week. Please continue to practice reading with your child each evening as well as work on identifying high frequency sight words and reviewing letters and sounds.

In Math, we discussed 3-dimensional shapes and their attributes and compared them to 2-dimensional shapes. We are continuing to work on subitizing, number facts, counting to 100, and number identification and writing.

In Science, we discussed animal needs. Next week will be our nutrition lesson as we attend CARC and the students learn swim safety. We will be going outside on days the weather is permissible. Please be sure your child has a jacket each day.

Book orders are coming home and are due back by March 10th. Your orders help our classroom to earn free books and supplies.
