Dear Parents/Guardians,

Week number two is under our belts! The humidity has really done a number on us so I hope the students can cool off over the holiday! The students are really settling into our routines nicely. Please continue to stress at home the importance of following school and classroom rules.

In Reading, we continued to work on introductory concepts of print skills (recognizing the job of the author and illustrator, identifying the parts of a book), the difference between fiction and non-fiction, we practiced and reviewed the letters/sounds for “Mm”, “Tt”, “Ff” and “Nn” and the sight word “I”. Next week our letters will be “Hh”, “Pp”, “Aa” and “Z” with the sight word “like”.

In Math, we reviewed colors, as well as counting and number recognition skills. Next week, we will begin our sorting by one characteristic or more.

Our Social Studies focus this week was “All About Me”. Next week we will discuss families and the types of homes families live in.

Reminders:
* September 7th: No School
